Requirement 1

Initial

Do ONE of the following:

Option 1:

For one day keep a log in which you describe your communication activities. Keep track of the time and different ways you spend communicating, such as talking person-to-person, listening to teachers or the radio, watching television, reading books and other print media, and communicating online. Attach a copy of your log to this work sheet.

Discuss what your log reveals about the importance of communication in your life.

Think of and tell about ways to improve your communication skills.

Option 2:

For three days, keep a journal of your listening experiences. Identify below one example of each of the following, and discuss with your counselor what you have listened to.

1. Obtain information
2. A persuasive argument

- 3. Appreciate or enjoy something
- 4. Understand someone's feelings

Option 3:

In a small group setting, meet with other Scouts or with friends. Have them share personal stories about significant events in their lives that affected them in some way. Take note of how each person participates in the group discussion and how effectively he communicates his story. Report what you have learned on the back of this page about the differences you observed in effective communication.

Option 4:

List as many ways as you can think of to communicate with others (face to face, telephone, letter, e-mail, text messages, and so on). For each type of communication, write an instance when that method might not be appropriate or effective. Use the back of this page if you need more room.

Requirement 2

Initial

Do ONE of the following:

- A. Think of a creative way to describe yourself using, for example, a collage, short story or autobiography, drawing or series of photographs, or a song or skit. Using the aid you created, make a presentation to your counselor about yourself. Write about your presentation on the back of this page.
- B. Choose a concept, product, or service in which you have great confidence. Build a sales plan based on its good points. Try to persuade your counselor to agree with, use, or buy your concept, product or service. After your sales talk, discuss with your counselor how persuasive you were and write about it on the back of this page.

Requirement 3

Initial

Write a five-minute speech. Give it at a meeting or in front of a group. Attach a copy of it to this work sheet.

Title of speech: _____ Date given: _____ Meeting: _____

Requirement 4

Initial

Interview someone you know fairly well, like, or respect because of his or her position, talent, career, or life experiences. Listen actively to learn as much as you can about the person. Then prepare and deliver to your counselor an introduction of this person as though this person were to be a guest speaker, and include reasons why the audience would want to hear this person speak. Show how you would call to invite this person to speak.

Requirement 5

Initial

Attend a public meeting (city council, school board, debate) approved by your counselor where several points of view are given on a single issue. Practice active listening skills and take careful notes of each point of view. Present an objective report that includes all points of view that were expressed, share this with your counselor, and attach a copy to this work sheet.

Requirement 6

Initial

With your counselor's approval, develop a plan to teach a skill or inform someone about something. Prepare teaching aids for your plan.

Carry out your plan. With your counselor, determine whether the person has learned what you intended.
